It is a good tool for learning all about human rights, but it also has some negative impacts on people's minds and health. The internet provides many advantages that are not available in the real world. But, for this case, it is not suitable to be used all the time because you should save your eyes. You should save your eyes too. If you like to read, then you need to know how long you can read at a time. You can do that by setting a timer for thirty minutes. If you want to keep reading after the timer goes off, then save your progress and continue later on when your eyes are rested. If possible, print out copies of what you are reading so that way it won't affect your eye sight. After reading them once or twice (if it is necessary), get rid of them because they are not really needed anymore.
